

HOUSING TRAINING & TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE PROJECT

Freedom Network USA (FNUSA) is the nation's largest alliance of experienced advocates advancing a human-rights based and equitable approach to human trafficking in the United States. FNUSA believes in trauma-informed, rights-based, and voluntary services for survivors of trafficking. To learn more about the Training Institute, please visit freedomnetworkusa.org/training.

FNUSA's Housing Training and Technical Assistance Project provides ongoing training and technical assistance to support service providers in learning about housing options and best practices for serving survivors of human trafficking. FNUSA provides policy and procedure support to OVC funded housing projects, hosts live webinars, and produces resources on topics related to the intersection of housing and human trafficking. The Housing Training and Technical Assistance team strives to prioritize racial equity across all resources and materials.

RESOURCE LIBRARY AND WEB-BASED TRAINING

FNUSA conducts live webinars and produces fact sheets and other written materials that address common challenges in housing and offer practical solutions. These materials provide information and insight to service providers, and focus on the intersection of serving human trafficking survivors in housing programs. Recorded webinars and written materials are available in the FNUSA's Resource Library.

HOUSING SUMMITS

FNUSA will facilitate Housing Summits in partnership with OVC funded housing grantees. These convenings bring together local housing providers to discuss solutions to increase housing access and options for human trafficking survivors.

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

FNUSA's Housing Training and Technical Assistance project provides technical assistance to OVC housing grantees and their partner agencies. Technical assistance may range from reviewing housing policies and procedures, program planning and implementation support, to problem solving housing specific needs.
